Dear All

A job well done I would say!

The latest incarnation of PPS3, post Coalition re-branding, now sends out all sorts of mixed messages as to what is or is not sustainable, and just as importantly, what is an acceptable form of development.

Your interim policy deals with the possible redevelopment of garden land in a perfectly pragmatic way, giving your officer's the discretion they properly deserve. After all isn't that the reason we sent them off to University to equip themselves with Planning Degrees?

Regards
